

THE SOUND OF DISAPPEARING GLACIERS

The sound of disappearing glaciers is not just the sound of raging torrents, or of thundering cascades. It is also the faint murmuring sound of a thousand rivulets and rills flowing ceaselessly, day and night, day and night, with each turn of the Earth:—

...a thousand more....